The list of Photoshop Elements tutorials below are aimed at photographers who want to edit, retouch, and create special effects in Photoshop Elements. The tools you will need for the Photoshop tutorials are the Photoshop Elements program and an iPad or Android tablet. The desktop programs which we use to create these Photoshop tutorials use Photoshop layers. What are Photoshop layers? Photoshop layers act just like the layers in a normal image editing application. They make it easy to stack or combine layers of photos, vectors, and raster graphics. You can view a photo or image as a whole, with different parts of the image visible depending on where you put the layers. How do you create a Photoshop layer? You can create a Photoshop layer from a photo that you are editing. The method to create a Photoshop layer is to first create a new image. Click the New Layer icon on the toolbar to open the New Layer dialog, which you will see in the next steps. Choose a name for your layer, and select the type of layer you want (Photoshop calls the types of layers Distort, Path, Gradient Map, Spatter, and Patch. Your layer name should be important because you will use it as a way to keep track of the different parts of your image. Add the image from your image editing program you want to use for your Photoshop layer. Adding a photo to a new Photoshop layer When you add a photo to a new Photoshop layer, you see a palette of the colors in the photo and the look of the colors in the photo. The tools to choose which color in the photo to use in the Photoshop layer are in the toolbar. Position the photo over the area of the layer where you want the part of the photo to be. When the photo is positioned correctly on your Photoshop layer, the cursor turns into a paintbrush. Click where you want to start painting on the photo in the canvas, and when you are satisfied with the placement, click the left mouse button to add a new color to the photo. This process is similar to painting with a paintbrush. When you are finished with your Photoshop layer, save your image in the format of your choice. View a Photoshop layer in Photoshop Elements You can see a photo layer in Photoshop Elements just like in Photoshop. Click the icon to the right of the Layers palette to see the photo 388ed7b0c7

Violin Foundation Violin Foundation was an American alternative rock band from Boston. History Violin Foundation began as a solo side project for Jason Lescalleet. Lescalleet was a guitarist for the all-female metal band, Poison the Well. After his departure from Poison the Well, Lescalleet continued to work on demos, writing and recording new material. Lescalleet enlisted guitarist Joe Russo (Tom Hamilton, Mr. Big) to play on the first demo he had recorded (an untitled demo he recorded in his basement). After compiling an extensive list of songs Lescalleet was working on, he began to discuss the songs with musician and composer Jeff Parker and former Virtue frontman Doug McCombs. The three decided to continue working on material together, and after gaining the approval of the record labels they signed with, Violin Foundation was born. Violin Foundation's self-titled debut album was released by 38 Records. The album includes a bonus track, "Homecoming" which features a guest appearance from former Nirvana drummer, Dave Grohl. The album garnered critical praise and earned an "Album of the Month" award from Boston alternative metal label, 38 Records. The band toured with such acts as The Gories, The Fall of Troy, Madball, and Sublime with Rome in support of the album. Following the release of the debut album, Parker and Lescalleet left the band and were replaced by guitarist Dan Shea, formerly of the band Astronoid, and drummer Steven Douglas, formerly of the band Evergreen Terrace. In May 2007, Violin Foundation announced that they were broke. According to their site: "We are at a point where it will be very difficult for us to continue touring and recording. We would like to thank you all for your support." Shortly after the announcement, they played a final show, which the "pigs flew in the sky" with Adam Duritz of Counting Crows, and held a final Blowout episode of "Double Date" where they discussed the state of the band's career and played 2 songs ("Race Against Time" and "The Chase") as part of "Call in Your Favorites."
