Fred Perry in 1936, but his challenge to reach the last eight was ended on a tie-break. After a sloppy start to the match - the crowd were treated to a flurry of mistakes from Federer - the 35-year-old managed to claw his way back into the contest. With the Swiss later able to produce perhaps the finest shot of the match, from a clutch volley, the ATP World No 1 held a two-sets-to-one lead against the Spaniard. However, Federer made three unforced errors in the seventh game of the second set and Agut appeared to take the opening set off court as time slipped by on Centre Court. There seemed little danger for Federer as he went into the interval leading 1-0, before Agut, who is ranked 146 in the world, clawed his way back into the contest in emphatic style in the final set. Aided by six ace serves from a slowing Federer, the Spaniard was never headed and ultimately sealed the match with a spectacular overhead from behind the baseline. years of the English Death Metal pioneers 'Unholy Alliance'. Formed in the early 1990s, the thrash metal band went on to become an unparalleled force within the metal industry.

Hailing from a relatively small town in Sweden, they went on to become one of the most renowned names within the music industry. Playlist To celebrate the band's landmark 25-year jubilee, we've created a hand-picked playlist of their best tracks.

Remember to turn up the volume and
